Thanks Valois: so in preparation for reviewing Cadmus' final compilation of all comments under each category and the responses they will develop by early next year, we want to do the following for each category: 1) review all comments included under a category; and 2) based on the nature of those comments, further subdivide each category into smaller sub sections to enable us to effectively and fully respond to a particular comment/comments consistent with what Lucita is requesting. The attached example you provided does just that.

Is my understanding above accurate? If so, might we have to further subdivide Cadmus' compilation of comments and corresponding responses based on what we are doing now for each category to ensure we meet ORC's standards OR can we share the results of what we are doing with Shari (e.g., your attached example) to reduce the time needed to review/edit Cadmus' work?

Douglas,
Here are the categorized 2017 comments and the list of categories. I suggest starting with topic 12, hydraulic fracturing on p. 423 to get into the zone, then maybe topic 28, Comments in support of the project.
Thanks!

Valois
